

Compose[®] Workspaces

Today's workspaces must be highly versatile to support both collaboration and individual work, in a seamless presentation of organizational culture and brand. The Compose family provides floorplate cohesiveness within an integrated panel system, offering panels of varying heights, freestanding options, and a host of compatible worksurfaces, tools, and storage components. Compose is an adaptable, reconfigurable solution that gives people what they need to do their best work and makes the most of your investment for years to come.

HAWORTH[®]

Designed for Change

Compose creates the workplace you envision today and easily adapts to support future needs as workstyles, trends, and business considerations evolve—without having to buy all new products. It's a sound investment that lets you configure and reconfigure an integrated landscape of flexible workspaces that provide varying degrees of privacy, personal storage, and personalization. From traditional applications to more open and freestanding spine-based workstations, Compose offers options for the entire floorplate and workforce.

Features

Compose accommodates a variety of personal work needs, while supporting collaboration in open spaces. It provides flexibility for the changes businesses face as workstyles and the environment evolve.

Flexible applications – Accommodates a wide variety of fixed and adjustable height worksurfaces—including inline, 90-degree, and 120-degree applications—storage, screens, work tools, and accessories for endless configuration possibilities.

Scalable and adaptable – Designed for reconfiguration with durable components that can be reused, redeployed, and expanded upon in new and different applications, as business needs and workstyles change, maximizing your Compose investment.

Supports spine-based planning – Creates open-feeling, freestanding configurations with Compose 26-inch-high panels, flat feet, and a spine-based work rail top trim that allows flexible placement of worksurfaces, storage, and connectivity to power and data.

Full power and data – Offers users full power and data capabilities—at the worksurface or below—for technology use when and where it's needed.

Colors, Materials, Finishes

Providing the clean aesthetic and practical options organizations and their people need, Compose has a timeless streamlined design that makes itself at home in any contemporary open-plan environment. End panels are available in a variety of finishes to enhance any organization's style, brand, or culture.
